Bay city officials dig into zoning at special workshop

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis city officials made apparent strides Tuesday in resolving critical issues over future growth of the town. Meeting in a special workshop session, council members blew the dust off piles of papers and maps that have sat dormant for a couple of years—so controversial and politically dangerous that they were shelved for another day. That day came last week when a citizen unwittingly forced the issue back to the council table, dust and all. In fact, when council President Tad Black peeled into his stack of documents, a spider cascaded to the floor. Council members were shocked into holding the special meeting when a woman who had requested a side yard variance to build a house on North Beach Boulevard suddenly withdrew her request. She'd learned that her property, annexed into the city in 1991, had never been zoned by the city and, therefore, doesn't fall under the zoning regulations. City officials haven't zoned the annexed acreage—including much of Casino Magic's vast holdings—because the city has been unable to pass a comprehensive plan that is required by state law before initial zoning may be applied to newly annexed territory. While the casino has developed under general agreement with city leaders, other lands in the annexed area have never been developed. How to designate future growth of the city in a relatively small portion of Cedar Point has been the biggest stumbling block in past council deliberations, and a source of friction between council and the city administration. Tuesday, however, council members came up with a general agreement, designating waterfront lots on North Beach, between Cedar Ridge Avenue and Serpentine Lake, for single family residential development. Property wedged behind those lots was tentatively labeled for "light resort" development, which council members said they could define for townhouse or condominiums, no less than 1,800 square feet each. Members also agreed to designate some portion of the Serpentine Lake area for a marine education tract. The consensus Tuesday was that the only spot authorized for gambling in the city would be the Bay Cove Marina site of Casino Magic's barge, with a boundary drawn 210 feet on all four sides. Council member James Thrifflay said the extra space would allow the comings

Lack of sewerage may hamper new development

BY ED LEPOMA
Sewerage or the lack of it in Hancock County has once again affected plans for a large investment on a strip of land facing Hwy. 90. The problem surfaced at a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission May 7, when a representative of Anil C. Shah, identified as the president of Sangam Development Corporation, asked the body to request a "Special Exception" for lots he planned to purchase and develop along the busy highway. The lands sit in a "gray zone," because it is a strip of land that lies between the end of Bay St. Louis corporate limits and the beginning of Waveland's city limits. It fronts on the north side of Hwy. 90 and lies between McLaurin Street and the west corporate limits of Bay St. Louis, and the now-abandoned Bismark Street that intersects with the east corporate line beginning the city of Waveland. Coincidentally, on the same day, the Planning Commission was holding an advertised public hearing attempting to zone the lots from "R-2, Medium Density Residential" to "C-2, Highway Commercial." Planners said because the lots front Hwy. 90 they should never have been zoned residential.

County records two fatalities

BY ED LEPOMA
A drowning and a traffic death were recorded within hours of each other last weekend in Hancock County. The drowning victim was identified as a six-year-old Vietnamese boy, Donnie Truong of Gulfport, and the accident victim was identified as Randy L. Necaise, 42, of 27478 J.P. Laddner Road, Pass Christian. Ken Hurt, the Sheriff's Department chief juvenile investigating officer, said the drowning occurred on Mother's Day as families were docked five boats abreast at Bayou Caddy about 300 feet from Bayou Caddy Fisheries off Shipyard Road. The emergency call came into the sheriff's department at 12:58 p.m., and deputies and medical personnel were dispatched to the scene, along with volunteers from the Clermont Harbor and Bayside Volunteer Fire Departments. Hurt said eye witnesses said the young boy apparently was jumping from one boat to another without wearing a life jacket, and only about 15 minutes passed before the family realized he was missing. Some on the scene dove into the water, and when rescue crews arrived they brought the boy up. Hurt said apparently the boy went foot first into the water and was wedged under one of the boats. "There were no bruises or cuts on the child," said Hurt. After the boy was brought up, American Medical Response technicians began applying CPR, but the child was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock Medical Center. Hurt

Airport more attractive

Improvements underway and planned at Stennis Airport have put the Hancock County facility in a very competitive position. That was the thinking of Bill Stovall, deputy director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, and the man who has been leading the restructuring of the airport off Hwy. 603.

Lakeshore boy meets heroes Hanging with the Pros

BY BETSY GAGNET
The last two weeks have been quite a whirlwind for nine-year-old Corey Ladner of Lakeshore. He's gone from hanging with NFL quarterbacks in Orlando to riding around The Sea Coast golf course at Casino Magic with Green Bay Packer quarterback Brett Favre. Although a consummate athlete, Corey's dreams of becoming a professional athlete were dashed by a spinal cord injury that was caused by a car accident. Corey's mother, explained his condition.

"The doctors consider it a form of cerebral palsy," she said. "He's had many surgeries (over 20) to release muscles." Twice a week Corey goes to physical and occupational therapy, which he describes as "hard." He wears braces on his feet during the day and full leg braces at night. Additionally, a paralyzed diaphragm prevents Corey's lungs from working properly, explained his mother. However, she said, Corey's prognosis is good. "He can get better and better if he just keeps struggling," said Ladner. Despite the injuries, it seems nothing slowed Corey down during the last two weeks.

It was actually the second year the youngster attended the Quarterback Challenge, an annual event in which NFL quarterbacks test their skills against each other. Last year the Ladner family met a Disney television producer at the event, and it was arranged for Corey to meet Favre, one of his heroes. When the family decided to return this year, they made a call to the producer. "We called her and told her we were coming," Ladner said. "She set him up like a king." Not until they arrived, however, did they find out Corey had been named an honorary NFL player.

Corey Ladner, 9, of Lakeshore recently met two of his heroes, Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Kordell Stewart (center) and Green Bay Packer quarterback Brett Favre at the NFL Quarterback Challenge held May 2 in Orlando, Fla. Corey was named an honorary ball boy for the event which features NFL quarterbacks in skill competition.

There will be face painting, photo identifications, McGruff Teddy Bear Clinic, safety information, and a special appearance by "Power Ranger," Mr. Mississippi Charles Hawkins of Bay St. Louis.

This is always a great time for our community, and it is hoped there will be a record number in attendance this year.

Hancock Medical's three-story 49,000 sq. ft. addition is nearing completion.

This will mean an additional 38 inpatient beds, bringing the total number to 104.

It wasn't too many years ago when Hancock County only had a 26-bed hospital and a handful of doctors. Today there are 39 staff physicians and a consulting staff of 38 physicians with additional specialties.

As our community has grown, so has Hancock Medical Center continued to stay a step ahead.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Educators in our school systems today have to perform many, many required tasks which were not even thought of a few years ago.

It is a tremendous job, and all school administrators, staff personnel, teachers and assistants need to be commended on the job they do so well.

This past week I was speaking to Dr. Elida M. DeBlieux, principal of Bay Middle School, and she was offering high praises for several of her students' parents.

Dr. DeBlieux said on any given school day she has at least five parents who are there from the time the bell rings in the morning until classes are dismissed in the afternoon, eager to help in anyway they can.

These volunteer parents help with many things around the school and campus. They keep up the bulletin boards, support school activities, such as parties for classes, take photos of events, and do whatever is necessary to help make the job of administrators, office staff, other staffers and teachers easier.

Bay Middle School has one of the most active PTOs, and Dr. DeBlieux cites the PTO's interest in the school as one of the reasons for the great volunteers.

The volunteers are concerned about their own children, as well as the children of others in the elementary school.

It is good to see parents becoming involved with helping our teachers in our schools.

I am sure this is true, especially at private schools, yet I am sure there are others who could help, too.

When parents, administrators and school staffers work together for the one goal of a better education for children, we all win.

I feel that as the school year is about to end, every parent of a child in a school system, should take time to acknowledge the volunteers and tell them thanks for the job they do.

Tonight the Bay High bands will perform their annual Spring Concert in the Robert Magee Auditorium, Bay St. Louis.

Bay High School's Tiger Pride band was honored this year by being invited to perform at Walt Disney World's EPCOT Center.

The free concert will begin at 7 p.m. and feature the high school, junior high and beginner bands.

Admission is free, and the public is invited.

In keeping with community spirit, band members are asking guests to bring a couple cans of dog or cat food for the Waveland Animal Shelter. I think this is a great benefit.

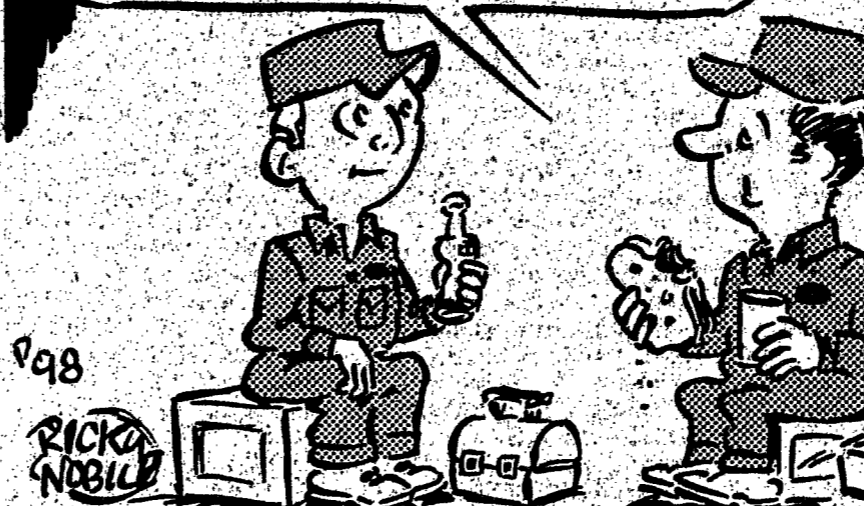

A Bay St. Louis Felicity Street resident called Wednesday to report that her mailbox had been stolen sometime Monday night.

The culprit(s) even pulled the mailbox post up, which was set in concrete, and took it all.

Another resident's box in the 200 block of Felicity was stolen, too. The incidents have been reported to postal authorities and Bay police, the caller said. A postal inspector is to investigate the matter.

In case the culprit(s) do not know it, it is a federal offense to tamper with a mailbox. One can be fined and serve time.

Fordice vetoes House Bill 1609

Gov. Kirk Fordice vetoed House Bill 1609 citing concerns about the constitutionality of Section 16 of the bill. Section 16 of HB 1609 prohibits political parties from contributing to or endorsing judicial candidates. HB 1609 is a campaign finance reform bill.

"There is much good to be found in House Bill 1609. However, it is almost beyond belief that a bill so full of good government ideas would contain a provision like that found in Section 16. This overly broad prohibition is not only patently offensive to the guarantees of freedom of speech contained in Section 13 of the Mississippi Constitution and the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, but also strikes me as un-American."

"Indeed, throughout our history, the fundamental right of a group of citizens to associate together in a political party for the purpose of advancing political ideas has been protected by Section 11 of the Mississippi Constitution and the First Amendment to the United States Constitution."

"Our Mississippi Constitution refers to freedom of speech as a 'sacred' right. It is too late in the day to argue otherwise, and the threat to free speech in HB 1609 is too real to begin making exceptions," said Fordice in his veto message.

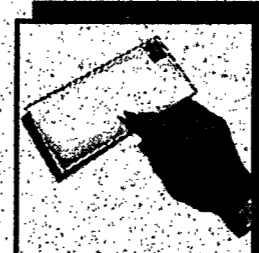

Governor Kirk Fordice signs Death Penalty Reform Bill

Gov. Kirk Fordice signed into law Senate Bill 2868, SB 2868 amends state law to make murder on school property a capital crime. SB 2868 also forces the Mississippi Supreme Court to make decisions on death penalty appeals within 270 days.

"Mississippians are tired of being afraid of dangerous murderers and look to their state government for protection. The shootings at Pearl High School unfortunately brought death and grief to unsuspecting students. Their innocence and sense of security have been lost forever."

"I am pleased this bill also includes a recommendation of the Commission on Criminal Justice Reform to shorten the appeal decision time by the Supreme Court. The efforts of the Commission working with the Legislature produced some important death penalty and victims' rights measures," said Fordice.

The Governor's Commission on Criminal Justice Reform was appointed by Fordice to present legislation on death penalty reform and victims' rights to the 1998 Legislature.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Renken accepts N. J. position, praises state, Coast people

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the fine people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. I have recently accepted a wonderful opportunity to become president of Lenser Filtration Inc. in Lakewood, NJ, just 10 miles from the Atlantic Ocean.

Once again this German subsidiary is investing a great deal of confidence and resources in me to take them to new heights and a challenge I willingly accept.

Unfortunately it required my resignation as president of the former Ter Chemicals plant in Pass Christian, and it will now require the relocation of my family from the Gulf Coast.

Words cannot begin to do justice to the positive impact that the people of this area have made on my life and the life of my family beginning already in 1979 as transferees from Colorado Springs.

These same personal relationships have provided me an opportunity to become involved in the economic development of the great state of Mississippi while participating in a variety of worthwhile organizations dedicated to the educational and economic advancement of the Gulf Coast community and to constructively contribute my efforts and resources wherever it would do some good.

During the course of this process, and with the resources available right here, we were able to grow Ter Chemicals from zero to nearly $10 mm in annual revenue and employ 60 people in less than 17 years.

During this same period of time I have also witnessed extraordinary economic growth in our Gulf Coast community and a positive attitude toward the future of our state and for all its children.

More importantly, I have come to know many fine people of the Gulf Coast from proud and dedicated hourly employees to the Governor to a dedicated and committed Congressman whom I am proud today to call my friend.

I have established many special personal relationships here, some of whom I call a brother and mean it. I will miss you all... that is why I am writing this letter... I couldn't bear to tell all you this in person. Farewell Mississippi, and God's Speed till we meet again. I will never forget you!

Parents need to challenge non-graded Bay-Waveland elementary schools' reports

To the Editor:

As a parent, I'm concerned about both of the elementary schools in the Bay-Waveland School District becoming all non-graded classrooms in the next school year.

Personally, I do not like this system at all. I feel that it does not prepare our children for the real world. Regardless, if you agree or not, I feel that as a taxpayer and a parent we all should have a say in how our children are taught.

At least I had a choice to put my children in a non-graded classroom or not. You won't next year unless you speak up.

Parents, you do have a choice, but you have to speak up. Why aren't all of our school board members and superintendent voted for by the taxpayers of this school district? In school districts all around us these people are elected. This way we can at least vote them in or out in our democratic way.

The University of Southern Mississippi tested the non-graded classrooms a few years ago to see how they were comparing to graded classrooms. It was in the paper about the testing, but I never saw the results. Parents should ask these questions to the school board members and let them know how you feel. Many parents felt the same way I do, but I had a choice. Make sure that you do.

School board meetings are the second and fourth Mondays of each month at the district office next to Bay Middle School on Carroll Avenue. If you would like to be on the agenda to speak at a meeting, you have to let them know by the Thursday before. Call 467-6621. This is the district's phone number.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

Diamondhead's leadership selection of president, officers and directors of the POA is coming up soon, in June.

The Diamondhead Community Association — always "working for a better Diamondhead" — is introducing the folks who are running at a Meet Your Candidates meeting Friday, May 15 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

These folks will introduce themselves and give a brief resume of their qualifications.

There will be no question-answer time. Everyone is welcome to come have a part in the future of Diamondhead.

LURING YOU TO THE LORE OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Invite your friends and relatives to visit Hancock County, and they may win a great bass boat and trailer. They can participate (as long as they're not residents) in the cities' tourism promotion "Go Fish," which goes on all summer.

Details and information are being given at the Mississippi Welcome Center in Hancock County on Hwy. 607 and I-10.

D'HEAD WOMEN'S CLUB

It's a busy year for the Diamondhead Women's Club, and through "FUN" fund raisers, such as the Gladiola Sale, Playday, fashion shows and luncheon and the Spring Fling the club raised almost $5,000.

A check for $1,640 was given to Sally Lindsley for Hope Haven.

As always, the Alzheimer Foundation of Mississippi received a generous portion of the charitable fund.

At the May meeting, outgoing president, Pat Morgan, who will be "a hard act to follow," reviewed the year. Past President Peggy Clemons installed the new officers for 1998-99, who are Lee Fredian, president; Beverly Bruce, vice-president; June Murphy, secretary; and Gert Wadlington, treasurer.

These ladies are all familiar with the good work the Women's Club does in our community and will do a great job.

Your membership dues of $10 may be mailed throughout the summer to Shirley Blanchflower at 7911 Lahai Street in Diamondhead.

ATTENTION

Gen. Paul Harvey of the Mississippi Gaming Commission will be the guest speaker at the May 29 meeting of the Diamondhead Business and Professional group at 8 a.m. at Park Ten Lanes.

Contact Jon William Ritter at 255-9188 for membership information.

WE'RE 10 YEARS OLD

Rehab One Physical, Occupational and Speech Therapy at 4550 Shepherd Square in Diamondhead is celebrating 10 years in business with an open house and health fair Saturday, May 16 from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. There will be health checks and screenings, space walk, food and drinks and music.

LAST MEETING BEFORE SUMMER

The Diamondhead Garden Club will meet Wednesday, May 20 at 11 a.m. for a luncheon social/meeting.

Please bring your favorite finger food or dessert to share.

The late Catherine McFaul, who was an inspiration to our club in her term as president, will have a memorial garden dedicated in her name after the meeting at the Country Club grounds.

Make an effort to attend the last meeting of the year and enjoy.

NOSTALGIC EVENING

Another wonderful production is coming to you from the Diamondhead Performing Arts Sunday, May 17 at 7 p.m. at Diamondhead Academy's Rogers Hall.

Tickets are $15 adults, $3 students at Diamondhead Discount Drugs or at the door.

The group, "Five by Design," will take us back to the 1930s radio days in their musical rendition of the "Golden Age of Radio."

A VSP IN OUR MIDST

A "Very Special Person" is Paul Richards, pastor of Diamondhead's Community Church.

My good neighbor, Joe Finley, says, "The growth of the church is a testimonial to the fact that his sermons are among the mountain peak experiences of our lives."

Another good friend, Bill Robbins, says, "His spirit is thrilling. This Diamondhead pastor preaches with a passion for life."

He consoles, he comforts, his sympathy and caring is overwhelming in times of tragedy and sorrow.

He dwells on happiness for everyone and has touched us all with his kindness. We're so fortunate to have Paul Richards in our midst.

Try to stay cool, and have a beautiful week.

The Golden Age of Radio comes to Dhead

The group, "Five by Design" will recreate the Golden Age of Radio in the 1940's when families sat listening to sounds and voices coming from a wooden box, and their own imagination provided the imagery. The sound of big bands came into their living rooms from ballrooms in Chicago, New York and Hollywood.

The program called "Radio Days," to be presented May 17, 7 p.m. in Rogers Hall of Diamondhead Academy, commemorates the spirit of the World War II years.

The show will feature music from such musical artists of the period as Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, along with segments from vintage serials, comedies and quiz shows.

The World War II years were the "Golden Age of Radio." It was also a time of ration stamps, war bonds, and victory gardens. Students would rush home from school to catch such favorites as Jack Armstrong, the All-American Boy, Little Orphan Annie and Terry and the Pirate.

They could also find out how to get a mug, a pedometer or a secret decoder ring for just one thin dime and a boxtop.

Radio Days rebroadcasts the theme songs, commercial jingles, and patriotic ditties that provided moral support for the men and women who defended the American homefront.

Tin Pan Alley generated hundreds of songs for our troops to promote the sale of war bonds ("Any Bonds Today?"), flag-waving patriotism ("Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition"), and musical diversions for their listening and dancing pleasure ("The Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B").

The purpose of the production is to remember the men and women who served during World War II. Radio Days provides us with a time capsule of those experiences as America wept, fought and survived a war.

Since their debut in 1988, "Five by Design" has enjoyed great success with audiences of all ages by capturing the authentic sound and style of the 1940s.

The members of "Five by Design" are Lorie Carpenter-Niska (soprano), Cathy Farr (alto), Kurt Niska (tenor), Michael Swedberg (baritone), and Terrence Niska (bass).

Alfon Accola is the host/narrator. This is the group's first appearance on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. It will follow performances in Houston and New Orleans.

Tickets are $15 and are available at Diamondhead Discount Drugs, LL, Ltd. and at the door.

Individual sponsorships are still available and businesses can still join Casino Magic and Hancock Bank as corporate sponsors.

Airport — Ready to compete

Stovall was commenting on a "Special Report" aired during the 10 p.m. newscast on WWL-TV, Channel 4 Monday night. In that report, the newscaster says while the board that oversees New Orleans' Moisant International Airport continues to argue over petty issues, such as who controls the parking contract, airports like Stennis are making great strides to improve their facilities and could become a threat to the future of Moisant.

It also included a statement from Sen. Trent Lott, the powerful Senate Majority leader, who said he will do everything he can to channel more monies to make Stennis and other Mississippi airports more competitive.

Stovall issued a written response to the newscast saying, "It shows that our strong effort of coordination from our (P&H) Commission, especially the Airport Committee, along with the Federal Aviation Administration to complete our restructuring plan is working."

"There still remain unresolved issues to be completed," Stovall said. "We are now working on items initially planned for the year 2000. We are ahead of schedule."

Stovall issued a warning to New Orleans, "Fasten your seat belts, Stennis International Airport is taking off."

The report by WWL came just hours after Hancock's Port and Harbor Commission held its regular monthly meeting and gave the final go-ahead for several giant projects.

Work is expected to start within 30 days to overlay and rehabilitate three taxiways at a cost of $494,966. Dunn Road-builders LLC of Laurel will complete the work, and the project is partially funded by a $650,000 FAA grant.

Another project two construct two elevated fuel tanks at the airport will also get underway in the next 90 days. Colum Construction Company of Ripley was chosen to finish that job after Williams Paving of Gulfport couldn't provide asphalt to meet FAA standards, and the remaining work is estimated to cost $144,339.

Twelve new T-hangers are also being constructed at the airport, and eight are already rented.

The P&H has also let a contract for $15,000 to replace the air and heating system at the Stennis Airport terminal building.

And, tomorrow, United Aircraft, the new fixed base operator at Stennis, plans to hold a grand opening to show off the refurbished terminal building. Other improvements to the facility include an executive conference room, refurbished restrooms, pilot briefing room and a weather briefing terminal.

United will provide rental car and air charter services at the airport.

Chancery-Circuit court judge races set Nov. 3

BY ELLIS C. CURVAS
Hancock County's qualified electors will see two Chancery Court judge races and one Circuit Court judge positions decided at the polls in the Nov. 3, 1998 elections, according to Secretary of State Eric Clark.

Those who qualified in the Nonpartisan Judicial Elections will include two incumbents unopposed for the district's Chancery Court and three incumbents unopposed for Circuit Court.

Chancery Court, District 8, covers Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties.

Chancery Court, Place 1, qualifiers are Norman Breland of Gulfport; G. Eric Geiss of Gulfport; Malcolm Jones of Pass Christian; Bill Atchison of Gulfport; Bobby Joe Randall of Gulfport, and Wes Teel of Gulfport.

Place 2 race includes Margaret Alfonso of Gulfport; Michael C. Hill of Long Beach; and Cecil G. Woods Jr., of Gulfport.

Place 3 incumbent J.N. Randall Jr. of Gulfport; and Place 4, Thomas Wright Teel of Gulfport, are unopposed in the Chancery Court races.

Incumbent Chancery Court judges William Stewart and Jason Floyd are retiring and are not seeking re-election.

Circuit Court, District 2, also includes Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties.

Place 3, Circuit Court Judge John H. Whitfield of Biloxi will be challenged by Bill Whitfield of Gulfport. The two candidates have the same name, but are not related.

Unopposed are Place 1 incumbent Kosta N. Vlahos of Biloxi; Place 2, Jerry O. Terry of Biloxi; and Place 4, Robert Harry (Bob) Walker of Gulfport.

In the challenged positions, if a candidate does not receive a majority, a run-off election between the top vote-getters will be held on Nov. 17, 1998.

Since 1994, candidates for judicial offices have been prohibited from aligning themselves with political parties and no longer run in party primary elections. The Nonpartisan Judicial Election Act applies to all political offices except Justice Court judge.

McDonnell announces for U.S. Congress

Randy McDonnell, a Biloxi public accountant and former Harrison County election commissioner, has announced his candidacy for the U.S. House of Representatives, Fifth District of Mississippi and will run in the Republican primary June 2.

He believes that American taxpayers for years have been a percentage of the economy are at their highest level since World War II.

He believes that the transfer of this tax money to government pork programs has been camouflaged over the years by the constant introduction of new income tax deductions and credits for ordinary taxpayers who think themselves fortunate to recover the crumbs of their own money previously ripped from their pocketbooks by the Federal Tax Collector.

And McDonnell says that while not all federal programs are pure pork, why send our tax money to the Washington, D.C. Bureaucracy to hire 100,000 policemen when we could keep our money here locally and have our city officials hire them?

These scams enable a Congressman to, in effect, buy the taxpayer's vote by making him think Congress is doing something good for him. Better that federal taxes be lowered and taxpayers make their own spending decisions at the local level.

The constant creation of tax credits and deductions has also produced an unbelievably complex tax code. Randy McDonnell advocates a more honest income tax — a flat tax, with a bigger standard deduction/personal exemption amount and only one other deduction.

This one deduction would be for church and charitable cash donations, which he thinks would encourage the transfer of some government social welfare and education functions to the private sector, which could do the job better and at a much lower cost.

McDonnell has a true-life example of what high tax rates can do to a moderate-income taxpayer. One of his clients, a single mother of one, head of household, with a job paying $40,000, bought a small shop to supplement her income. If she makes a $1,000 profit, the government gets $470 — 47%. If she works a second job as an employee, the extra income is taxed at nearly 41%. (This high marginal rate includes federal and state income tax and social security tax.)

McDonnell believes that the guiding principle of the high tax/big spending crowd in Washington is You Earn It, We'll Tax It, We'll Spend It.

He thinks it's time to send more citizens to Congress who will divert the flow of tax money from federal coffers back to the rightful owners — the taxpayers.

Although taxpayer money is the main concern of Randy McDonnell's campaign, he wishes to publicize two other issues.

He is opposed to all abortions except those performed to save the life of the mother, and in the case of forcible rape.

Randy McDonnell

Secondly, he favors a term-limitation period of 12 years for U.S. Representatives and U.S. Senators.

Bill Whitfield seeks Circuit Judge spot

Bill Whitfield, a Gulfport attorney, recently announced his candidacy for Circuit Court Judge, District 2, Place 3.

District 2 Circuit Court consists of Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties and has one of the busiest dockets in the state.

Whitfield received his juris doctor degree from the Mississippi College School of Law in 1981.

He has worked as a law clerk in the federal courts during which time he had the opportunity to research as well as participate in all phases of the trial process on a federal level.

Since 1983, Whitfield has practiced law in Gulfport and is currently a partner in the law firm of Bryant, Clark, Dukes, Blakeslee, Ramsay and Hammond PLLC.

During this time he has been involved as assistant counsel or lead counsel in hundreds of cases, most involving the defense of municipalities, police officers, physicians, hospitals, casinos, retail business and individual insureds.

Whitfield was involved in a

case involving a child who was killed by a school bus which subsequently resulted in the installation of child rails on all school buses to prevent children from walking into the driver's blind spot directly in front of the bus.

He was lead counsel in the case which resulted in the discontinuation of a downtown strip club in Gulfport and worked on the adoption of an ordinance that became the standard for most Coast municipalities concerning adult establishments and the service of alcohol.

During his announcement, Whitfield said, "A judge must possess character and knowledge of the law. I believe that I offer the voters a choice of bringing character back to our Circuit Court, Place 3. I will make decisions that will keep criminals off our streets... the right decisions... not decisions for the sake of publicity."

William Carey sets graduation

The commencement speaker will be the Rev. Frank Gunn, pastor of First Baptist Church of Biloxi.

Guests will be seated on a first-come basis until maximum capacity is reached.

Track and field clinic slated

On Saturday, May 30, the second Ralph Boston Track and Field Clinic will be held at Meridian Community College.

Sponsored by the State Games of Mississippi, Meridian Community College and Rush Foundation Hospital, the one-day clinic will offer athletes, ages 9-14, instruction on the basics of track and field competition.

Led by Olympic Gold Medalist Ralph Boston and MCC's track coach Joe Walker III and his nationally known track team, this clinic is a rare opportunity for Mississippi's young athletes.

Ralph Boston, a native of Laurel, reached Olympic fame in track and field. In 1960 Boston broke Jesse Owens' record by long jumping 26 feet to win a gold medal in Rome.

Boston also participated in the 1964 and 1968 Olympics where he won a silver and bronze medal, respectively, in the long jump. He was the first African American inducted into the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame in 1977 and in 1985 was inducted into the Olympic Hall of Fame.

The Meridian Community College Track and Field team has won numerous awards, including 11 national individual champions, 1979 Junior College All-Americans, Indoor Junior College National Champions in 1996 and 1997 and second in 1998 and runner-up in Outdoor in 1996 and 1997.

This year, Alton Smith, a freshman from Crestview, Fla., was the bronze medalist in the National USA Track & Field meet.

Joe Walker III, MCC's track coach since 1995, was also named the National Junior College Indoor Coach of the Meet in 1996 and 1997.

"The clinic will cover virtually all phases of a complete track program and one should come away with a better understanding of track and field and personal fitness," said Walker.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. Saturday, May 30 and is limited to the first 200 young athletes between the ages of 9 and 14.

The registration fee of $15 includes lunch, a t-shirt and instruction in five track and field events.

Parents are welcome to attend the clinic with their child for no additional charge, however lunch will be $5 per parent. For information, call 482-0205 or 481-1301.

Tom Jones performs at Grand May 28-29

Grand Casino Biloxi welcomes Tom Jones back for two performances at the Biloxi Grand Theatre. "Jones the Voice" (as he is known in his native Wales) will take center stage 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, May 28 and 29.

Born Thomas Jones Woodward in Pontypridd, South Wales, Jones started singing with the church choir at an early age. In his late teens, he sang in pubs at night while supporting his wife and son with various daytime occupations.

By the time he was 23, Jones had gained some local notoriety performing with his group, Tommy Scott and the Senators.

Jones was 25 when his breakthrough hit "It's Not Unusual" became an international number-one hit. An avalanche of gold singles and albums were soon to follow.

Now, three decades later, this entertainer is still charming audiences. Jones' unique throaty voice has the range to handle a wide spectrum of music, bringing each song powerfully to life.

His delivery and passion remain unchanged in contemporary music. The versatility of Jones' baritone voice makes every song in his repertoire a

"Tom Jones song."

Throughout his career he has recorded everything from country to pop tunes to soul favorites, rock and love songs.

In addition to "It's Not Unusual," (1965) some songs will always be associated with Jones: "What's New Pussycat," also a hit in 1965, rose to #3 on the charts. In 1966, "Green Green Grass of Home" hit #1 in the U.K., and #11 in the U.S.

"I'll Never Love Again" charted at #6 and earned a gold award in 1967, and "Delilah" was #2 in the U.K. and #15 in the U.S.

In the 70's and 80's, many of his recordings became platinum, and Jones' concerts continued to sell out.

Jones' 1988 collaboration with Prince resulted in an MTV award for Breakthrough Video of the Year for "Kiss."

"The Lead and How to Swing It," released in 1994 won critical acclaim. It was Jones' first original album released in the U.S. in six years.

Tickets are now on sale at the Biloxi Grand Theatre and at all TicketMaster outlets. Ticket prices are $30/floor and $25/balcony.

Casino Magic Biloxi sweeps community service awards

For the second year in a row, Casino Magic and its employees were honored as Biloxi's Outstanding Business of the Year, Volunteer of the Year, and winner of the Harrison County's highest honor, the Economic Excellence Award, for their corporate and employee support of numerous community service projects on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

During ceremonies held as part of National Volunteer Week (April 23-25), Casino Magic Biloxi was honored by Mayor A. J. Holloway as the city's Most Outstanding Business.

That same evening, Casino Magic executive Bruce Nourse was named the Distinguished Volunteer of the Year for his unwavering support of important community events and civic organizations.

"To maintain the outstanding quality of life that we enjoy here in Biloxi, it takes a strong partnership between the public and private sectors. Bruce Nourse, Casino Magic, and its employees exemplify the true spirit of community volunteerism. They are true partners in our community and an important reason why Biloxi is a great place to live and work," said

Mayor A. J. Holloway, City of Biloxi.

Earlier this year, Casino Magic Biloxi was also honored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce and Harrison County Development Commission for its work to advance the Gulf Coast economy economically as well as socially, when it was awarded the Harrison County Economic Excellence Award.

These awards are the highest honors awarded by the county and city for a business and individual. They were also received by Casino Magic in 1997, just three short years after opening their casino on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

"As a native of Biloxi, I am both proud of Casino Magic's commitment to community excellence and honored by the city and county's recognition of our efforts," commented Bruce Nourse, Casino Magic's senior vice president.

Casino Magic employees volunteered over 5,000 man hours and contributed over $200,000 in cash and in-kind donations to organization such as Adult Literacy Partners, Alzheimer's Association, Aids Task Force of South Mississippi, American Heart Association, Biloxi Care & Share Program, Boys & Girls Club, Cystic Fibrosis, Humane Society of South Mississippi, Kids Voting, Loaves & Fishes (homeless shelter), Make a Wish Foundation, Mississippi Special Olympics, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Salvation Army Thanksgiving Food Drive & Angel Tree Program, St. Jude's Hospital, and United Way of South Mississippi.

Casino Magic also sponsored several key community events including the 13th annual Night Out Against Crime, Biloxi Seafood Festival, George E. Ohr Mad Potters Ball, Cruisin' the Coast, and Blessing of the Fleet Coronation Dinner.

In addition they support hundreds of other non-profit organizations through ongoing donations of money, food and paper products and door prizes.

Good news for growth investors!

Capital gains tax relief

If you invest in growth investments, like stocks or mutual funds, the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 could mean more money in your pocket.

The new law reduces the top tax rate on capital gains to 20 percent (from 28 percent) for investments you hold between 18 months and five years. Some investors will benefit from even lower rates.

For information on how you can benefit from the new rates, call or stop by my office today.

Pros — Meets star players

"I was shocked," Corey said. He got to meet Favre again along with Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Kordell Stewart, another hero.

In fact, Corey's room is filled with posters of Favre and Stewart, along with another sports hero, NASCAR driver Dale Earnhardt, whom Corey hopes to meet one day.

Added to the collection were the jerseys worn by Favre and Stewart in the competition, both autographed, and a football helmet with signatures of 20 NFL players.

Corey even got autographs on a miniature helmet for his two-year-old brother Gage.

In the last couple of weeks, Corey has been interviewed by newspapers and could be seen on Florida news shows.

On a recent morning in the library of St. Clare School in Waveland, where Corey is an honor student, he flashed a big smile when asked if he liked the media attention.

"I loved being on tv," he said. "In August, (the Quarterback Challenge) is going to be aired."

He said he liked answering questions, too, particularly about his new football friends.

Favre was especially nice, Corey said.

"(During the Quarterback Challenge) Brett told me if I was not to just go hang out under the tent with the players," explained Corey. "I thought, oh, okay, I sure am not."

While in the tent, he played a little sports trivia with Baltimore Ravens quarterback Jim Harbaugh, while hanging out with some of football's most recognizable players.

He even got to toss the football around with Favre and Stewart.

Corey could not be prised away from the ESPN Club, which was in the same hotel where the Ladners stayed, as many of the participating quarterbacks could be found there.

"He wouldn't even leave the club to go to Disney World," laughed Bunni Ladner.

"I didn't care about (Disney World)," Corey piped in. "The ESPN Club had computers and millions of TVs."

It was during the challenge that Favre invited Corey to the Brett Favre Forward Foundation Charity Golf Tournament held last weekend at The Bridges (see page 16), and Corey spent most of last Saturday riding with Favre in his golf cart.

"It was exciting," said Corey beaming. "I had been waiting for a whole week."

When Corey arrived at the golf event, Bunni Ladner said she heard someone say "The weather is nice, and the beer is cold," to which, she said, Favre added "And Corey's here, so let's do it."

Zoning - Dusts off old plans and goings of casino workers and patrons, without a legal challenge.

The rest of Casino Magic's annexed area would be designated as a resort district, allowing all the casino-related amenities that exist or are planned for the tract.

Council members also agreed to designate most of the waterfront of the annexed area as "R-5," which allows only construction of piers and gazebos. The waterfront beginning at the tip end of North Beach, running behind Magic's tract, would be designated for marine-related activities such as jet skis.

Council members repeatedly emphasized that the designations are merely land use labels that will be used as a general guide when the city re-writes its zoning ordinance. The land use plan covers not only the annexed area, but the entire corporate limits of Bay St. Louis.

But designating the growth expected in the undeveloped annexed area has been the most contentious part of council's deliberations since consultants were hired in 1994 to come up with a plan.

One reason for the dissension is that the city promised owners of Magic's tract, and an adjacent 22 acres, that their property would be zoned for gaming ultimately. Many residents of the Cedar Point area strenuously objected to an additional casino, despite the city's written pledge to the contrary.

In the years that the debate raged on, events took care of some of the controversy without help from City Council. The lands that a group of local investors had once hoped to develop for a casino at Serpentine Lake, for instance, were subject to complex litigation over options and ownership questions. In the end, Grand Casino bought up the property and has not announced plans for it.

City officials are hopeful they can get Tideland Trust funding to buy at least some of that tract, and make marine education center out of it.

Meanwhile, two members of the City Council which got so bogged down in the controversial land use issues were defeated in their reelection bids. Their successors, Connie Payne Lampley and Carleen Murphy Moran, asked a series of questions concerning the maps and plans and ramifications of the plans Tuesday.

But neither Moran or Lampley appeared to have serious objections to the points that were addressed in Tuesday's session.

Council members say they're anxious to resolve the comprehensive plan's sticking points, so it can at last be adopted and a new zoning ordinance hammered into place. In the meantime, council has imposed a 120-day moratorium on new construction in the annexed area.

Fatalities — Accidents

said the boy's mother was identified as Mai Thi Lam of 4016 Ponderosa Street, Gulfport.

Later Sunday, about 7:30 p.m., deputies and other emergency personnel were called to investigate a head-on collision on the Kiln-DeLisle Road near Edwin Ladner Road and the Hancock-Harrison County line.

According to Sheriff Ronnie Peterson, a preliminary investigation revealed that a car driven by John B. Ward, 21, of Kiln crossed the center line of the two-lane road, and hit another car driven going eastbound. The driver of that car, Randy Necaise, was killed instantly and was pronounced dead at the scene by County Coroner Norma Stiglet. A passenger in his vehicle, identified as Deibert Cuevas of Pass Christian, was injured. He was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where he is listed in good condition.

The sheriff said after the impact, the car driven by Cortez went into a spin and hit another car driven by Jerry Johnson of Moss Point. Johnson and a passenger, identified as Deirdre Goff of Moss Point, did not require hospitalization, he said.

Hamper — No sewerage

but the land was overlooked during public hearings on zoning and when Hancock County adopted the first-ever Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance in January of 1997.

Rather than wait for the rezoning, Shah, the developer sought the special exception so he could begin building. He plans a 5,000-square-foot Sherwin Williams showroom and warehouse on one parcel. The plans were to begin the building this month, so it would be completed by this August.

In April, 1999, Shah wants to build a 2,300-square foot office building on another piece of land on the county portion of the property, with a completion date of November, 1999. He also planned to start a third building, which would be included in Waveland's corporate limits this September, with completion expected in February, 1999.

Carl Guy, who owns Guy's Goodyear Tire and Auto Supply, and Elaine Perron, the owner of a Body Shop and Bulldog Towing behind Guy's business, sat in on the proceedings and dropped a bombshell when they asked Shah's representative if the developer knew there currently was no water or sewerage connections to the property. The disclosure also took members of the Planning Commission by surprise.

Guy explained that more than 20 years ago when he built his shop, he and Perron went in together to sink a well and spent thousands on a wastewater treatment plant. He estimated they spent another $20,000 on fill dirt because the property was so low.

The Planning Commission approved the Special Exception, but delayed the public hearing on rezoning the area because attorney John Scaife said the county needs to notify nearby property owners of the planned rezoning. That matter will be taken up at the Commission's May 28 meeting.

However, they advised the representative of the developer not to begin building for at least 10 days in the event someone comes forward to oppose the plans. And, the developer still must get approval of a sewerage treatment facility from the county health department before building.

Contacted about the situation, Waveland Mayor John Mason said Waveland's sewerage lines stop on the south side of Hwy. 90, "and it would be extremely expensive to run a line under the highway. He said the city has never extended sewerage to accommodate a potential developer if the lines are not already there.

Mason said Waveland's city limits needs to be extended "to take in everything south of Longfellow.

"We need a distinct line, so the people know where our boundaries are. He said, "Longfellow would be the best place to do it."

Brett Favre Forward Foundation raises $150K for charity at Make-A-Wish

Proceeds from The Brett Favre Forward Foundation golf tournament and benefit concert held at The Bridges Golf Resort at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis last Saturday, raised approximately $150,000 for local charities.

Proceeds benefit Special Olympics, The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Mississippi, Hancock County's Hope Haven Children's Home and Gaites to Success in Kiln, Miss.

The two-day event included a celebrity auction, pairings party, tournament, awards ceremony and special concert by Hootie & the Blowfish.

"While the goal of the tournament and concert is to have a great day and lots of fun, the main objective is to raise funds for designated charities while we're doing it," said Leslie Swann, the Foundation's secretary and key tournament organizer. Celebrities who participated in the charity event included Mark Chmura, Brett Favre, Dan Marino, Mike Ditka, and many others.

Prized possessions

Corey Ladner of Lakeshore recently sold his prized collection of autographs after attending the NFL draft in Orlando, Fla., where he saw the actual jerseys worn by Green Bay Packers quarterback Brett Favre and Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Kordell Stewart. Corey also collected 20 autographs for himself and on a miniature version of his brother.
